

Agriculturalist Intern

Description

This is a full-time on-site role for an Agronomist Intern at Harithakailash in Chennai. The Agriculturalist Intern will be responsible for developing plant care database for urban Gardening.

The intern will work closely with our team to support and contribute to smart gardening projects, assist in implementing various agricultural practices, conduct research and data analysis, and provide recommendations for plant nutrition and irrigation techniques adaptable for urban practises.

Responsibilities

1. As Agriculturalist intern you will be applying your knowledge on plant growth and plant classification to build up a database that helps urban gardeners.
2. Clarifications and updation of plant care methods that a novice gardener can understand.
3. Record plant data into our system in the required format.
4. Identification of organic manure and their properties, that impact in the plant's growth.
5. Will be assigned to our partner nurseries to help them understand and implement our products.

Qualifications

- Strong knowledge and experience in soil science, agriculture, and plant nutrition
- Understanding of irrigation systems and techniques
- Experience in conducting research and data analysis
- Passion for sustainable and eco-friendly gardening practices
- Keen attention to detail
- Ability to work well in a team and independently
- Excellent communication and problem-solving skills
- Bachelor's degree or equivalent in Agronomy, Agriculture, or related field (ongoing or completed)
- Experience with smart gardening technology is a plus

Job Benefits

- Certificate upon completion, acknowledging self-learning achievements.
- Letter of recommendation.

Employment Type

Intern

Beginning of employment

Immediate

Duration of employment

2 Months

Industry

Urban Gardening

Job Location

134, Mudichur Service Road, West Tambaram, 600045, Chennai, Tamil Nadu, India

Working Hours

9am-6pm

Date posted

May 5, 2024

Valid through

15.06.2024